Course Goal(s)
Exposure to a variety of pulmonary diseases seen in an ambulatory setting, to serve as the basis for a research paper. Areas of research may include: sarcoidosis, bronchial asthma, interstitial lung disease, tuberculosis, and lung cancer.

Educational Objectives
1. Students will collect and analyze data from patient charts.
2. Students will critically analyze pertinent literature.
3. Students will write a research paper for presentation and publication.

Course Readings
Collect data from patient charts, develop ability to statistically analyze the data, and formulate the information in a paper for presentation and publication.

Course Activities/Experience
- Ability to collect data
- Appropriate use of analytical skills
- Quality of write-ups

Other Info

---

Course Director
Yash Kataria, MD  Anupama Tiwari, MD Co-Director

Duration
4 weeks