

Course Description	The purpose of this course is to enhance the ability of medical students/future physicians to appropriately address ethical issues arising within patient care of those experiencing end-of-life interventions.
Course Objectives	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Explore the meaning of death and dying, both personally and professionally, for self and others. • Describe the variability of the meaning of death and dying relative to the medical professional role and that of others. • Evaluate relevant policies and legal statutes pertaining to end-of-life interventions across the life span. • Appraise ethical issues arising in contemporary end-of-life medical interventions including autonomy and competing or complimentary values. • Demonstrate the ability to assess those experiencing end-of-life and to formulate culturally competent interventions which address ethical issues that arise.
Course Activities	Students in this course will complete a series of assigned readings cover the following content areas: Cultural Mean of Death (Self and Other); Professional Role in the Dying Process; Policies and Legal Issues in the Dying Process& Death; Contemporary Ethical Issues at End of Life; Formulating Ethical and Legal Medical Interventions at End of Life. All assigned readings will be available online.
Course Schedule Requirements	No on-call requirement. Student work is completed online.

Duration	2 Weeks	Location	Online
-----------------	---------	-----------------	--------

Designation	Elective, Non-Clinical, Online	Revised	08.29.2019
--------------------	--------------------------------	----------------	------------

ECU

BRODY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE